

DEATH VALLEY A MYSTERIOUS SPOT

W. W. WATT WRITES FROM RENO OF THIS STRANGE COUNTRY.

Former Janesville Resident Did Not Make the Trip in an Automobile as Proposed by a Friend.

William W. Watt, who now lives in Reno, has from time to time found many interesting bits of information about his new home country to write about, but in the following description of Death Valley he has added to the information of his Janesville readers considerably.

Mr. Watt gives a most interesting pen picture of this strip of land that he calls the gruesome country it has well earned. He tells of the dangers that exist to trap explorers and the great wealth to be found there. It is a most interesting pen picture of the great and almost unknown west.

"Just 150 miles from the city of Reno is the famous Death Valley which lies deep and dreary like a dragon in the desert. Bound on the north-east by the barren rocks of the Funeral and Grapevine ranges of mountains which rise above the plains some seven thousand feet, and on the southwest by the eternally snow-capped peaks of the Sierras, it sinks down in a gorge three hundred feet below the level of the sea.

The city of Rhyolite is the gateway to this most desolate and wonderful region. Far and wide this region is known as the land of mystery and death.

"It lies just across the Nevada state line and is therefore in California. The enced to attempt to cross the Valley in the daytime. But in midwinter the climate there is ideal. Frost rarely ever falls, and flowers spring up as if by magic. Birds sing and vegetation grows where water is found. It is said if one would remain in this region the year around that it would result in a sure cure for pulmonary and rheumatic troubles. In fact, there is a movement now started to establish a modern sanitarium there with all its modern improvements. But as the residents of this part of the far west are stalling something about every hour there is little attention paid to this latest scheme. Its borders are lined with precious metals while its salt and borax deposits are the richest in the world. So with its superlative degree of bad it will be seen that its good is immeasurable.

"Death Valley ranges from 100 miles in width to 150 miles in length. At its greatest depth the 'channel' of the valley may not be over seven miles wide, though the border of Death Valley begins on the summit of the mountains on either side, and there is no way across the 'great sink' shorter than from fifty to eighty miles. In fact there are only three practical routes across Death Valley.

"While the first white man set foot upon its soil on Christmas day, 1849, the region had been inhabited by Indians for ages. It was their trails that led the first white man across the desert. The evidences were then that the Indians had long inhabited the country. They were regarded as Indians from different bands—supposed to be criminals who had been exiled from the tribes for grievous crimes. The first party of white people to visit Death Valley were the 'Jayhawkers' of '49. Four of them still survive and one was recently in Reno upon a visit. They had started for California in the year named and had undertaken to find a newer route to the Golden West than that usually traveled. They believe, once chartered a Santa Fe train, and made a record-breaking run from Los Angeles to New York. His great stunt is to spend $10,000 in Reno foolishly as he says: 'Just to make the natives sit up and take notice.' And although the city of Reno is today the commercial center for this part of the country and is known as the 'Denver of Nevada,' it nevertheless is today the most wide-open gambling place of chances accorded 'Mysterious Scotty' a most hearty reception and like all the other suckers he donated his all for the good of the cause. His famous sixteen-mule team is a familiar one in this part of the country and the Gazette in this issue presents an excellent likeness of Scotty's outfit as it is leaving the town of Rhyolite for his ranch in Death Valley. No one claims over to have seen his gold mine, although it is said that he takes out a few thousand now and then to keep him going. He has been pictured in papers and magazines as a miner, maybe so, but his intimate friends have never accused him of swindling a doublejack. At any rate, he gets the money, and the world at large is none the wiser.

"WILLIAM W. WATT."

Copy vs. Ads.

Twenty years ago literary followers who wrote the text of newspapers and magazines looked with scorn upon the ambitious efforts of the men who wrote the advertising. The usefulness of the ads, to the business office was recognized, but their presence in the publication could be regarded only as a necessary evil.

"Things are different now. Some one asked an editor what he thought of the practice of reducing the bulk of the popular magazines by chucking away the ads, and keeping the text. The editor, being a wise man, replied that a better plan was to chuck the text and keep the ads; 'for,' he said, 'in the advertisements the reader will find more good writing, more useful information than in the so-called literary section.'"

Collier's recently put forward the proposition that before many years the ads of advertisers demanding that their ads be run alongside readings, literary men will insist that their copy be run alongside of advertisements.

The most forceful, direct, convincing and, therefore, the best writing which is being done today appears in the advertisements. Doubtless every literary light in the country, ranging from those who glimmer to those who blaze, has envied Col. Roosevelt the dollar a word which he is supposed to get for his contributions. Certainly it is alluring. Think of getting $27 for writing such a characterful utterance as this: 'I do not say that men should not be brave; bravery is necessary to every man who is a man; without it he is merely a malleable.' But the writers of advertising, although not allowed the column's profits, are very much more highly paid.

Nowadays the advertisements have the laugh on the copy. Much of it serves only as a nice gray background to throw the ads into strong relief. Newspaperdom.

DANCED WITH KING EDWARD AT COURT BALL. The Crown Princess of Sweden, Princess Margaret.

Stockholm.—To be selected from an assemblage of royalty and lords and ladies by the king of England for the opening dance is perhaps the highest social honor one could obtain on the continent. Such was the success of the charming Princess Margaret, the crown princess of Sweden, last week at Buckingham palace.

Princess Margaret has won the hearts of her future subjects in Sweden not only by her charm and beauty, by her enthusiasm, her love of Sweden and her general democratic nature.

Like her sister, Princess Patricia of Connaught, she was an ardent hockey player, but such a strenuous game was not considered dignified enough for a future queen, so on her marriage she was forced to give it up and has now become an enthusiastic golfer. She is the mother of two charming children. The crown prince and the crown princess have been in London and were present at the last court ball of the season, which was held by the king and queen at Buckingham palace, and which differed in some respects from the first ball, held a fortnight earlier. More foreign royalties graced the entertainment.

The royal procession formed in the white drawing room. Here the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Prince and Princess of Sweden, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Prince Christopher of Greece, Prince George of Greece and other royalties had assembled to join their majesties from the council room.

In the state quadrille which opened the ball the king danced with the Crown Princess of Sweden, who is his niece, and the queen with the crown prince.

Refreshment and socializing followed the dancing. The king and queen were seen in the garden.

true story of Death Valley has been overdrawn and underdrawn. While at certain seasons of the year the traveler is comparatively safe, in fact, comfortable within its borders, there are certain seasons when the oldest and most experienced man of the desert takes his life in his hands to attempt to cross it. Its varied colored flowers in the spring proclaim its innocence at that season of the year, while the silent mounds that rise above its parching sands in summer tell the other story.

"From October to May it may be crossed with safety and comfort; from June until September the man who attempts it takes his life in his own hands. 'Death Valley' is without doubt the hottest place on earth during the mid-summer months. This is probably not from the reason that it is from three to four hundred feet below sea level, but because from its geographical position. The mountains at its border bar the damp winds of the Pacific on one side. It is only through narrow canyon-like gorges to the southeast and northeast that the wind enters this great hole in the earth, and as it passes along the sun-baked rocks, and over the burning salt and alkali deposits it is dried of its moisture and becomes laden with poisons of the region.

"Scientists have discovered that there is less moisture in the Death Valley region than in the atmosphere of any other habitable portion of the earth.

"In summer the tongue of the tenderfoot soon parches, the body is soon exhausted of its moisture, the mouth and lips swell with the tongue, the brain is baked, and the unfortunate being quivers like a moth that has fallen into a lamp chimney and dies a most miserable death. And the wind dries and burns everything before. But in spite of the facts not a day passes but what some prospectors start out from this locality for Death Valley in the hopes of locating gold. And just to think that one young fellow here talked for an hour in our office trying to convince me that the two of us could make the trip in his auto to a locality where he said that there was a great showing of gold. That not me for it is wild enough in this western metropolis of Nevada without going into any Death Valley. The heat of the atmosphere which keeps the thermometer at 137 in the day time and from 110 to 128 in the middle of the night, is not nearly so unpleasant and destructive as the hot blasts of wind which burn the very bones of the traveler. The gravel all along the trails of Death Valley during the torrid of travel there during the summer. And in most cases they contain the bodies of men who 'knew every inch of the country.' It proves that at certain seasons of the year it is next to suicide to the unexperitry is said to be the most profitable mining industry in the world today and it has all the gold schemes placed in the background. In spite of the terrible reputation of Death Valley there is one garden spot in it where 'Scotty' Smith has his ranch. It is a touch of paradise and consists of thousands of trees, fields and orchards. Splendid crops of alfalfa, Johnson grass, wheat, hay, figs and fruit are raised, and there are plenty of chickens and turkeys as well as ducks. "Another character whose fame is world wide is Walter Scott, better known as 'Mysterious Scotty,' who has a farm in the desert that is the equal of the best farm on Rock Road. Scott is the best farm seen in Reno and whenever he hits town there is something doing. Scott is usually loaded down with greenbacks and the way he spends his cash makes even the westerners take notice. He is said to have a rich mine in Death Valley. Frequently he has flushed big bank

FIRST 1910 ANNOUNCEMENT

We beg to announce that in addition to our present line (The Buick, Star of America) we will have the exclusive agency for the Oakland and Oldsmobile.

The Oakland line consists of three distinct models. 1st Model—No. 21—has 4 cylinders, 30-horsepower, weight 1600 lbs., wheelbase 100 inches, shaft drive, selective transmission—3 speeds forward and 1 reverse, ignition Remy magneto and battery for reserve. This magneto is placed side of the cylinders in a clean and handy place—not in the crank-case or fly-wheel, so when a minor adjustment has to be made the engine has to be removed. And that is the Oakland which will sell for $1,000; swift, silent, stylish and strong, and not how light but how strong.

2d Model is Model 25—a fully equipped touring car, larger and more compact than ever offered for several hundred dollars more than this car, and this Oakland will sell for $1,250.

3d is Model K—4 cylinder, 40-horsepower, 112-inch wheelbase, selective sliding gear transmission, double ignition and battery—one of the neatest, simplest and most powerful cars built. Price of this model is $1,700.

Our Oldsmobile line consists of two distinct models: An Oldsmobile special—a large roomy seven-passenger car, 118-inch wheelbase, 30x4-inch tires, 40-horsepower, magneto Bosch dual system and battery, selective sliding gear transmission—4 forward speeds, 1 reverse; equipment, 2 gas lamps, 3 oil lamps, Prest-O-Lite gas tank, horn, full set of tools, baggage carrier, coat rails and foot rails, including all—not $4,000 as others do, but $3,000.

2d model, Oldsmobile Limited—130-inch wheelbase, 42x4½-inch tires, sixty-horsepower, 6-cylinders, bore 4½, stroke 4½, double ignition Bosch dual magneto and battery, transmission selective sliding gear—4 speeds forward and 1 reverse, and full equipment. The first real automobile of this kind that ever proved a success before the public. Including full equipment, speed, beauty and all—$4,600.

The Buick's, the leading cars of America, will range in prices from $550, $900, $1050, $1100, $1400 and $1,750—in prices just what you want. The Buick, the car which excites all other competitors and dealers because no other car can maintain its initial value as the Buick cars do without extensive and continuous repairing; for that reason don't see how cheap and light a car you can buy but how good a car you can buy; when you buy an $850 car you are buying a pony but when you buy a $1,000 Buick you are getting real value. We can prove this. For instance, the $1,000 Model 10 Buick has won the following honors at Atlanta

This is our $1,000 Buick

DEMONSTRATIONS CHEERFULLY GIVEN

hill climb. Wm. Oldknow driving his $1,000 Buick, beat Hule's Ford by 7 4-5 seconds. Easy money again at Harrisburg, Pa.: Buick Model 10 won Class 4 Harrisburg Motor Club economy contest, running 28 6-10 miles on one gallon of gasoline. The Buick's rivals were Reo, Maxwell, Jackson, Fords and Rambler. At Kul-amazoo, Mich., the little white streak won the five-mile race on a mile circular track over the Jackson, Maxwell, Reo and Ford. This little car had been driven 7,000 miles and still travels the tracks at a 1:12 clip. None of the above races were won by our racing teams or drivers, but were won by amateur drivers or owners driving their own cars. The most important races and hill climb contests held this season were won by the Buicks. Why? Because she has the staying qualities and not how cheap and how light, but how simple and how strong. That is the Buick.

Just a few of the Buick's honors: At Ft. George, N. Y., Buick $1,750 car takes all honors seven times up the hill and winning each time and ready for more.

At Mount Lookout, Tenn., hill climb Buick 30-horsepower $1,750 car again shows its staying qualities by winning two 100-mile races, one 50-mile race, one 200-mile and two 25-mile races—traveled the 100 miles in 1:32:3. Contestants were Cadillac 30, Locomobile, Pope-Hartfords, Stoddard-Dayton, and Fiat Cyclone.

And on June 19 Chevrolet, one of the famous Buick drivers, captured first in the big race known better as the Cuba cup race at Crown Point, Ind., driving his 30-horsepower Buick, smallest car in the race, 355.67 miles in 8 hours, 1 minute and 33 seconds. This car was traveling at an average of nearly 50 miles per hour, while some several times the horsepower were only averaging 46 and 48 miles per hour.

At Indianapolis, Ind., it was up to the Buick again to keep up the record of American-built cars and does so and more, so lowers the world's records. Eight prizes or eight firsts were again captured by the Buicks—won the 50-mile, the 100-mile, the 150-mile, the 200-mile, the 225-mile, and the 250-mile. In several races it beat: Buick 1st, 2d and 3d; then others follow. Own a Buick and you own the best car built by the best American experts. You see them wherever you go and they go wherever you see them.

The 1910 literature of Oaklands and Oldsmobiles are now to be seen at Prilipp Bros.

PASS RESOLUTION FOR A DIVISION OF LANDS

Trans-Mississippi Congress Wants a
New Law—Delegates Assailed
Speaker Cannon.

Denver, Col., Aug. 21.—A resolution calling upon congress to pass a law dividing the country's interior, agricultural and forest lands was adopted by the Trans-Mississippi congress.

The resolution was the one presented by the former Senator Patterson of Colorado. It had been in committee for two days and the feeling was abroad that it was an overt attack on Pinchot and this assertion was made on the floor by Frank Gowdy of Denver who opposed the Gowdy.

Mr. Patterson said he had no intention of attacking Mr. Pinchot and wanted merely a settlement of the Pinchot controversy in which it has been charged that Mr. Pinchot has oversteered technicalities in reserving forest lands.

Mr. Gowdy offered an amendment commending the forestry policies of the administration. This was accepted by Mr. Patterson and in turn Mr. Gowdy accepted the Patterson resolution. Both were passed.

The resolutions committee presented a partial report and the clauses on the following subjects were adopted: That the income tax measure become a law; that a tariff commission of experts be placed in service; that congress pass a law regulating the use of grazing lands; that Alaska be given a territorial legislature; that congress pass a law preventing the collection of federal liquor revenue in prohibition territory; that aid be extended American shipping.

Joseph G. Cannon and the national congress were scored when former Judge J. B. Delford of Colorado sought to show that the commercial congress is dominated by "special interests."

Judge Delford charged that the delegates to the congress are being herded into convention halls once a year and made to "listen to essays" mindfully prepared for the "infantile mind" and then made to vote the action with regard to public measures planned by the few leaders.

"What the use of millions of people west of the Mississippi river being represented if they have to sit still and be injected with a few spoonfuls of prepared rhetoric?"

Town Redolent of Perfume.

The sweetest town in the world is Grasse, in the foothills back of Cannes, on the French Riviera. All through the year Grasse is really one big bubbling cauldron where are distilled galleons, barrels, hogheads of perfume.

MILK AND BUTTERMILK BANISH FOOD MONOTONY

There Is Nothing That So Palls On the Human As Tiresome Sameness
---What People Call Monotony.

Of all kinds of monotony, next to a monotonous person, THE MOST APPALLING is the monotony of food.

Some people eat meat for breakfast, meat for luncheon, and meat for dinner.

They eat potatoes for breakfast, potatoes for luncheon and potatoes for dinner.

They eat biscuit for breakfast, biscuit for luncheon and biscuit for dinner.

The Positive Relief

that can be secured by substituting MILK, in any of its various appetizing forms, for meat and potatoes and bread, FOR LUNCHEON, makes life much more worth living.

IT IS THE ONE FOOD THAT NEVER GROWS MONOTONOUS.

It may be sweet milk which arrived in Janesville from the farm or dairy this morning, and which has been Pasteurized and carefully cooled.

Or it may be wholesome, health-giving buttermilk, of which so many people are fond and which the doctors are a unit in recommending as one of the best items of diet for either hot weather or cold weather, in the whole world of food.

Keeping milk away from other foods in a refrigerator is very important, because milk is a great absorbent of flavor.

If you are troubled with food monotony it is your own fault, for dietitians agree that every individual SHOULD CONSUME EVERY DAY ONE FULL QUART OF MILK IN SOME FORM.

Janesville has one of the very best milk services in the country and that this best milk costs no more than the raw milk.

A Word About Our Pasteurized Milk

There is no milkman in or near Janesville that has the facilities for cleanliness that we have. Cleanliness and purity is our greatest consideration. Our modern milk depot is equipped with a pasteurization plant. Our bottles are not only washed clean, but are sterilized with live steam before being filled. Not only this, but every machine, every implement in our depot is sterilized every day, even the cement floors.

Others may pasteurize (commercially) to keep the milk from souring during warm weather, but we pasteurize for purity all the year round. There is all the difference in the world in the methods.

Our milk is rich—twenty-five per cent richer than the legal standard. It is tested every day so as to give you uniformity of richness.

Our cream is very rich—almost twice as rich as the legal standard provides. It is always rich enough to whip if kept in a cool place.

FOR BABIES our pasteurized milk is an absolute necessity. In the past, impure and unpasteurized milk has slain regiments of infants by means of the millions and millions of bacteria which are permitted to remain in the milk despite their known presence.

It is excellent for people with weak stomachs. Being absolutely pure, free from live germs of any kind and delivered in sterilized bottles, sealed with antiseptic stoppers, practically airtight, there is no possibility for impurities of any kind.

Our pasteurized milk costs no more than raw milk, yet it could not be made any purer, if it cost four times as much.

The milk is FRESH—it's CLEAN—it's SWEET AS THE PASTURE LANDS THEMSELVES.

Try a bowl of milk and crackers for lunch, and drink a glass of milk at dinner-time.

YOU WILL FEEL THE BETTER FOR IT.

Every day our wagon passes your door. It's an easy matter to get the best milk and cream. Just hail the man.

We have gone to a great expense to give you better service. You can gain by taking advantage of it without any additional cost. Do it now, while you have it in mind.

HEART-TO-HEART TALKS.
By EDWIN A. NYE.
THE IDEAL HUSBAND.
When all the world needs is just the art of being kind.
A Chicago minister has made an effort through inquiries addressed to the young women of his congregation to discover the sort of husband these girls desire.
The replies are significant.
What is the chief quality of the man, do you suppose, these young women lust upon in their ideal husband?
Good looks?
Not one. Indeed, some of these sensible girls actually object to a handsome husband as one too apt to have "ambitions."
Wealth?
Scarcely one of them names a money requirement. Some expressly stated a preference for a poor young man that they might have the pleasure of helping him up in the world.
Occupation?
Neither occupation nor position in society cuts any figure in the selection of a desirable husband. Any honest employment would suffice.
What, then, think you did these 100 modern girls, ranging from eighteen to twenty-five years, lust upon as the one desirable trait in the man of their choice?
Pathetic insistence—
Every young woman put into her requirement that she wished, above all things, to marry a MAN WHO WOULD BE KIND TO HER!
That's all.
The husband might be plain of feature, rich or poor, millionaire or laborer, but—no must be kind.
And here is the distinctly feminine viewpoint.
Says the mystified husband who has domestic difficulty: "Do I not provide for her? Am I not neat and clean? I never touched her in anger. What more does she want?"
What more does she want? TENDERNESS, SYMPATHY. She is built that way.
The real woman of today doesn't mind burdens if there is a husband's sympathy. She gladly makes sacrifices if he shows appreciation.
I tell you, Mr. Man, the things you may account as trivial—a touch of kindness, a shy caress, a grateful look—these are all in all to your wife.
It is so easy to make a woman happy.
All she asks in return for giving you the best that is in her is just kindness.
Hard Work All Along.
"It's pretty hard work getting to the top, but them who have been there say it's harder work 'holdin' on'."

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT
A man who had been deforated for a postoffice appointment was consoled by the statement from his friends that "all things come to him who waits," and advised to possess his soul in patience and wait.
"The old maxim was doubtless good, and, as he was obliged to wait any way, the advice could do no harm, but a little observation convinced him that the waiting list was large compared to the number of appointments available.
There are perhaps more disappointed waiters in the realm of politics than in any other field, for the game is so fluctuating that it resembles the chase of the butterfly, and is usually about as unobtainable and as a prize is finally secured it means that waiting and waiting have gone hand in hand.
The art of patient waiting, however, is worth cultivating, in almost every avenue of life, for there are many problems, which only the unfolding of time can solve.
The boy in school catches a glimpse, now and then, of the busy throng ahead, and a desire to become a man possesses him, and he can hardly wait for the years to pass, but he is like the sapling in the forest which only time can develop.
The girl in the home may chafe under restraint and wholesome discipline and long for the time to come when she can pass beyond the threshold and out into the arena of freedom. Yet the training of the home and school is the foundation on which both the boy and girl must build, if the race of life is run to any purpose.
The average boy seldom escapes from the love-sick epidemic, and as love-making is a partnership affair he finds the average girl ready to meet him more than halfway, and so it frequently happens that new homes are established without incomes, and the short honeymoon ends in disappointment.
A little patient waiting would rob the divorce courts of much business, and prevent some of the sorrow which brightens this class of homes.
The value of a college education is the subject of much recent discussion, and from some of the arguments produced it would seem that the boy deprived of the advantages, is badly handicapped, but the fact remains that nothing but faithful work and patient waiting wins success for either the college graduate or his rival from the public school.
It is very natural for the young man just commencing a business career to feel that his services are not appreciated and that his salary should be advanced at regular intervals, regardless of what he is worth as a producer.
Many a boy has thrown up his job to try some other channel before he had demonstrated ability to earn enough to pay for the nuisance of having him around. This class of boys soon become drifters, and a salary of a few hundred dollars a year maddens them.
The boy may or may not have a classical education. The great universality of life where practical education commences and continues until the end of the journey calls for no diplomas, and wastes neither time nor energy on textbook instruction or

The world isn't fond of the kicker who kicks regardless of reason or rhyme, who grumbles and fusses and puts in his heels, at THE WISE KICKER. The whole blessed time. He's growing too frequent and there in this land, with his wild, ill-discriminate kicks; and people agree that he ought to be canned, or pelted with vitriol bricks. The kicker who kicks with some judgment and taste, does good as he means along; he knows that a kick is too precious to waste, and wastes in all countries, is it? He kicks at injustice and folly and sham, wherever he finds them in force; he goes to the show and he kicks at the man whose acting is the same and course; he kicks at the author whose novels are pure, he kicks at the singer who squawks; he kicks at the statesman unloading his junk in congress, and drawing the rocks. He kicks at the cheap and the lawless and stule, wherever they float about; he kicks that so many good men are in jail, and so many fourth-rate men are out.

HE WANTS THE WORLD TO KNOW
GOOD FEELS ARE COMING IN FROM EVERY DIRECTION.
Many people of Janesville and vicinity are greatly interested in the new remedy, Root Juice, that is now being demonstrated in the Reliable Drug Co. drug store. It is certainly a great medicine if one can judge by the reports that are coming from every direction. A number of local people are claiming that the first dose of the juice made them feel better. During the past few months the remedy has made scores of remarkable cures in many sections of the state and created considerable excitement. Numerous testimonials similar to the following are being received almost daily: "I write this for publication with the hope that it will influence those who suffer as I did to try the great medicine that cured me. The wonderful Root Juice medicine has done so much good for me that I feel it my duty to publish it to the world. I spent a life of misery for years, but thanks to Root Juice I am now free from every ache and pain. I, like many others, was very skeptical when the papers first told of the many hundreds of cures the remedy was making. When the scientist was invited to come here I thought he wouldn't be able to prove all that was claimed for the medicine. However, I was soon convinced as it did wonders for several of my neighbors. At the time I felt that every organ of my body was nearly worn out. My liver was torpid, my kidneys were weak and my stomach was in a horrible condition; at times it felt like it had rocks in it, a great deal of gas formed and I bloated fearfully. I had dizzy weak spells frequently and was badly constipated. My appetite was very poor and even in hot weather my hands and feet were often cold. I was using some kind of medicine most of the time without much benefit, but after using Root Juice a few days I began to improve. I have used hardly six bottles, but am feeling better than I have for twenty years and firmly believe that I am permanently cured!" —O. H. Cummings, R. R. No. 4, Lafayette, Ind. The people at the Reliable Drug Store are very pleasant in giving information in relation to the remedy. It is sold for $1 a bottle or three bottles for $2.50.

EYES AND EYESTRAIN
Many suffer from headache and nervousness that do not suspect the cause. The nerves that control the eye have a direct connection with the most vital parts of the human system. Continued strain on these nerves keeps them in such a weakened condition that they have to call on the force of other nerves to keep them supplied. In that way the strain is carried to other nerves, and will, in time, exhaust them all. Properly fitted glasses will prevent this strain and give the system a chance to build up.
Many have been relieved here. Why not you?

Building Foods For Boys and Girls
TEACH the youngsters the right principles of life.
The growth and development of children depend upon the kind of food they eat.
Any doctor will tell you that food largely governs the growth of body, mental energy and the capacity to resist sickness.
The percentage of body building element in food is various. One pound of Yankee Bread contains 70 parts of nitrogen. Potatoes 29 parts and meat only 18 parts. Thus 5c worth of Yankee Bread has far more nourishment than either meat or potatoes. Therefore it will be seen that children can eat no better food than our Yankee Bread.
You can get Yankee Bread at 5c the loaf from your grocer or from our wagons which pass your house every day.

I f all wool fabrics were the rule in mens clothes that wouldn't be so much reason for wanting you against the cheap cotton mixtures. But the cotton mixtures are the rule, not the exception. A very large percentage of mens clothing made and for sale today has more or less cotton woven in the fabric. It's so skillfully done, to make it look as much like all wool as possible, that you can't tell that it's part cotton until you wear it. Even your dealer may be deceived. You generally pay for what it looks like, what you think it is, but you don't always get the value you pay for. Even if the percentage of cotton is small you don't like to feel that you've paid an all-wool price for cotton.
You can easily be safe our clothes are of all-wool quality, always.

Dental Wisdom

Don't have your teeth extracted. Nowadays teeth can be saved. One tooth of your own is worth a hundred of false teeth. In most cases the pain of an aching tooth can be stopped and the tooth filled or crowned—to last you for twenty years of good service. Don't think a dentist mercenary because he tells you this. I feel like it is almost criminal to extract teeth when people under misadvice insist upon my doing so. You might just as well have your leg cut off because it aches as to have a tooth pulled just because it pains you. I save teeth.

Ed Reulbach, Cub Pitcher, Who Has Suddenly Gained Control.

The season of 1909, has furnished some surprise but none of those go much above the one that Ed Reulbach has offered. For several seasons the big Cub pitcher has had "wildness" for his middle name. But this year you don't hear it, that is not recently. Early in the spring Reulbach was as wild and had as much speed as ever, and for a time it looked as though he might drop from his world championship berth. Now everything has changed, Ed Reulbach wild? There not a fan that can think of the finger being in such a position. Big Ed has settled and every one is having trouble winning when he is on the scene. In the last nine games in which Reulbach has worked he has come out victor, and it is his work that has done much to hold the Cubs next to the Pirates. Ed Reulbach has control. He always had everything else and if he keeps going there is no telling how high a place in the baseball hall of fame this finger may occupy. Certain it is that his reversal has helped the Cubs mightily.

Try it. You can save yourself useless worry by permitting other people to attend to their own private affairs.

Recent Picture of MME. LILLIAN NORDICA, who has just married a New York banker in London.

The marriage last Thursday of MME. LILLIAN NORDICA, the American opera singer to George W. Young, a New York banker, at King's Welsh House church was a socialized event in the present of many celebrities. Mrs. Nordica was a beautiful gown of pale gray satin, the carriage being covered with rare old Venetian lace. She wore no hat or veil, but instead a chaplet of lilies. Her only ornament was a string of handsome pearls a gift from the bridegroom. James H. Carter, secretary of the American embassy in London, gave away the bride, and Fred Townsend, Marlin of New York was the best man. MME. NORDICA's sisters, Mrs. Emil del Castillo and Mrs. Baldwin W. Fenton Chaucery accompanied her to the church. The small church was decorated with palms and white lilies. The service was that of the Church of England and the "Loughlin" wedding march was played when the bride and groom entered the church. There were no bridesmaids. At the conclusion of the ceremony MME. NORDICA stopped while going down the aisle to shake hands with a number of friends. The honeymoon will be spent on a yacht owned by Mr. Young. Head and Heart. It takes a very great intellect to equal the pleasures of a very simple heart.—Beatrice Maule in "Gret."

RAYMOND SMALTER FORWARDS THE $29

Which He Obtained at Brook Saloon on Worthless Check on Night of August 13. From Raymond Smalter, former clerk at the Park hotel, who cashed a worthless check for $29 at the Brook saloon a week ago Friday night and boarded a northbound train early the following morning, the Rock County bank this week received a draft for the amount, together with a letter stating that owing to an oversight he had neglected to have the money on deposit against outstanding collections and asking that it be placed to his credit. The bank officials, in acknowledging the receipt of the draft, informed Mr. Smalter that he had no account at the bank and assured him that if he wished the money to be used to satisfy a check which was presented for payment last Saturday, they would be glad to attend to it. The cash was turned over to George Rudersdorf, proprietor of the bar, this morning.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Broke His Arm: Robert Slavson, eleven-year-old son of Mrs. Frances Slavson, 550 Milton avenue, while helping with hay in a barn yesterday, fell down stairs, fracturing one bone of his right arm near the elbow. He was taken to Dr. James M. Hildner's office, where the fracture was reduced and the arm made as comfortable as possible. Entertained for Daughter: Mrs. E. W. Lowell entertained a company of friends up river yesterday in honor of her daughter, Mrs. C. V. Hildner, who is soon to depart for her home in Japan. Pleasant Surprise Party: Twenty-five of the friends of Miss Helen Hildner were surprised here at her home, 217 Franklin street, last evening. The time was enjoyably spent with music and games after which a delicious luncheon was served. Charles Heddles' Condition: Charles Heddles' condition was reported to be just about the same this afternoon. "Though he is very seriously ill, Dr. J. F. ALBION EASY MONEY FOR EDGERTON TEAM

Tobacco City Tennis Players Won All Honors in Tournament Held Yesterday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Edgerton, Wis., Aug. 21.—Albion enthusiasts and Edgerton racket experts met on Edgerton's court here yesterday and in the tournament Albion entirely failed to make a showing. All the honors in both singles and doubles, with the exception of one set in the doubles, won by Albion players, the Edgerton men walked away with them. Those who played for Edgerton were: C. L. Clifton, Roy Wright, C. F. Mabbett, Dr. Keenan, J. P. Towne, and Will Burdeen. Albion was represented by Habscock, Burdick, Glen, Head, and Noble. The results were as follows: Doubles—Clifton and Wright beat Habscock and Burdick, 6-7; 6-1; and 7-5. Mabbett and Burdeen were victorious over Glen and Head by 6-2, and 6-1. In the singles, Mabbett won from Burdick, 6-2; Burdeen defeated Habscock, 6-2; Keenan took the set from Head, 6-1; and Noble lost to Towne, 2-6. The day was perfect for the match and the crowd attending was large and enthusiastic. Lowell Whitton, who is at Mercy hospital, Janesville, is reported to be gaining nicely and hopes for a complete recovery are good. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vickers departed for Watkin, Ill., for a few weeks' visit. Miss Keegan has closed her millinery store and is to take a vacation. Several horses, the Edgerton ball team and the band are all engaged for the Evansville fair. Several crops of tobacco are being put in the shed this week. Mr. Van Holden of Beloit, who has been at the Clifton home, left last evening for Louisville, Ky. August 26 is the day set for the big picnic at Nelson's Grove, Albion. Everybody is invited to attend. Ball games and races are planned for the Edgerton band will be there. Bert Cox was the lucky one to find a fine head Wednesday. Miss Kelley, a former teacher here, is renewing friendships here. She now lives in Eau Claire.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Broke His Arm: Robert Slavson, eleven-year-old son of Mrs. Frances Slavson, 550 Milton avenue, while helping with hay in a barn yesterday, fell down stairs, fracturing one bone of his right arm near the elbow. He was taken to Dr. James M. Hildner's office, where the fracture was reduced and the arm made as comfortable as possible. Entertained for Daughter: Mrs. E. W. Lowell entertained a company of friends up river yesterday in honor of her daughter, Mrs. C. V. Hildner, who is soon to depart for her home in Japan. Pleasant Surprise Party: Twenty-five of the friends of Miss Helen Hildner were surprised here at her home, 217 Franklin street, last evening. The time was enjoyably spent with music and games after which a delicious luncheon was served. Charles Heddles' Condition: Charles Heddles' condition was reported to be just about the same this afternoon. "Though he is very seriously ill, Dr. J. F. Pennington says that his condition is by no means hopeless. Two Picnics Today: Under the auspices of the Helms lodge of the Modern Woodmen, a big picnic is in progress at Yost's park today. Janesville was invited, but sent a very small delegation. The last tobacco dealers are enjoying their annual outing up river. Broke His Knee Cap: Norton Wells was brought to the Mercy hospital from Hanover this morning to have a broken knee-cap attended to. He lost his balance and fell from the engine room of the crematory yesterday afternoon. Officer Fanning's Vacation: Patrick Fanning's vacation begins tomorrow and Officer Peter Champion will resume his duties in the morning. Officer Sam Brown, who has been detailed at headquarters, will go back on his night beat. Injustice to "Chick" Blow: "Chick" Blow, who arrived here from Mineral Point this morning, declares that great injustice has been done to him in the newspapers. He denies having traveled to Mineral Point in a box car with a party of women and his contention that he did not even know the girls were going to be in that city until a day after his arrival, is borne out by his associates and the officers. The box car episode appears to have been purely mythical. Automobile Parties: S. C. Newman, Mrs. Newman, Charles Crink, and Edward Gibson of Kenosha and Miss Von Briesen of Columbus, Ohio, posed one automobile party registered at the Grand hotel last evening and family came over from Edgerton in their touring car last evening and took Miss Heddles and Miss Georgia Gillette back with them. L. B. Jones, Miss Fenniman, and Landford Larson and wife of Delavan arrived here this noon in an automobile and were registered at the Hotel Myers.

FORTY FLEE A STEAMER FIRE

PASSENGERS AND CREW ON ILLINOIS RIVER STEAMER ESCAPE FLAMES.

VESSEL TOTALLY DESTROYED

Women and Children in Panic—Ropes Burn Letting Many on Gang Plank Fall into Water—Two Persons Injured.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 21.—Although not fully recovered from the fright all of the 35 passengers, who with the crew of 16 had close call for their lives when the steamer Fred Swain burned to the water's edge off Averyville yesterday afternoon, had left for their homes today. Of the two persons injured only one was in a serious condition and it is regarded as marvelous that none met death.

No lives were lost and but two persons were injured, one seriously. The injured are: Joseph Casler, Paducah, Ky., engineer, seriously burned about the face and body, and Charles Heicheberger, Peoria, right arm broken. The loss is estimated at $35,000, $30,000 of which is on the vessel. Several of the passengers lost all of their personal belongings.

Women and Children Aboard.
The escapes from the burning vessel were almost miraculous. The majority of the passengers were women and children and once the fire was discovered issuing from a stateroom on the second deck panic reigned. To add to the horror, the ropes supporting the humane gang plank which had been lowered to enable those aboard to board the score of row boats that had hurriedly been put out from shore, burned, letting about fifteen persons, including several women and children, into the water. Tom Powers, a saloonkeeper of this city, and E. A. Caron of Worcester, Mass., both of whom were on the plank in an effort to quiet the panicking people, each saved the lives of two children, half carrying and half swimming with the little tots on their back and shoulders to old tree stumps, to await the arrival of rescuers.

Woman Discovers the Fire.
The fire was discovered by Mrs. Eugene Fairbairn, cabin girl, on opening the door of a stateroom. She at once spread the alarm but all efforts to subdue the flames proved fruitless, the fire spreading with alarming rapidity. Capt. Swain, on realizing that all hopes for the vessel were gone, ordered Pilot Martin Hutton to beach the boat and instructed his crew to deal out life preservers.

Engineer Casler, after attending to his boiler, gallantly against an explosion, went to his pumps, remaining there until the flames licked him about the face and body. To save his life he left, to find a rowboat which had been left for him had caught afire from the burning steamer. He got into the boat, however, and beating the flames from him and rowing hard managed to get to shore. He was taken to a hospital.

Passenger Describes Fire.
William Little, a prominent hardware merchant of Peoria, with his young son Harold, after being rescued by a motorboat, said:

"I, with my son, was sitting on the front end of the second deck when I heard a little girl remark to her mother: 'Mamma, look at the fire!' The woman turned in her chair and on sighting the flames shrieked: 'The boat's afire.' Instantly a panic ensued, all making a rush to the lower deck. When the gang plank was lowered after the bow was sent into the willows all scrambled upon it and all were plunged into the water when the cables were parted by the flames. I grabbed my boy and for awhile thought that surely we would both be lost, but I managed to cling on to a small willow tree until rescued. The shrieking of the women and the pitiful cries for help by the children was awful. It was a miracle that all escaped."

Two Drown at Burlington.
Burlington, Ia., Aug. 21.—While hundreds of merry-makers watched without any feeling of alarm, thinking the occurrence a part of a pyrotechnic display on the water, five persons last night jumped from a flaming boat into the Mississippi river, and two women were drowned.

It was announced that there would be a set piece representing the destruction of a vessel by fire, showing passengers jumping overboard to escape the flames. Consequently, when gunpowder on a barge caught fire, and flames were hurled in all directions, the spectators on shore did not become alarmed. A launch, containing Marshall Jordan and wife, only recently married; Mrs. I. D. Conover and two other men, all of Mount Pleasant, Ia., caught fire, and to escape the flames all leaped into the river, the women drowning.

Russian Train Robbers Get $15,000.
Kievovodsk, Russia, Aug. 21.—A band of 15 revolutionists have perpetrated a successful train robbery near here, as a result of which they are $15,000 richer. One of the robbers was wounded, but his companions carried him away. A sergeant of gendarmes was mortally hurt.

Dan Patch And Minor Heir Are to meet at the State Fair.

Dan Patch, 1:55, the world's champion harness horse, will defend his title at the state fair against Minor Heir, 1:59 1/2, in a match race, and every genuine lover of the light harness game is laying on tiptoe for the big event. Superintendent of speed, Roush, has succeeded in bringing about the match and he and the state fair board are confident that the race will bring out a record crowd for Tuesday of fair week, the day selected for the most spirited mile contest that has ever been provided for Wisconsin horsemen.

Since the Wisconsin fair board accomplished the task of bringing the two greatest horses in America together other fairs and racing associations have been bidding for the event, but the contract is closed and the race will take place here. Mr. Savage and Mr. Horsey will both be there to look after the race and it is said that fully a thousand of the leading followers of the turf, who have no interest in the state fair outside of the race, will be here to see the battle from points as far east as New York state.

Minor Heir, with a record of 1:39 1/2, and Dan Patch, 1:55, are everyone knows, are the racing marvels of the year. Dan Patch is the champion of champions, and is better known than any prince or potentate, and more widely loved than any other animal, the most extraordinary attraction that the state fair board could have secured.

Dan Patch is a name to conjure with. He is the fleetest, most lovable, most perfect horse that ever lived. He has traveled thousands upon thousands of miles and has entertained a half million people while his deeds have been the theme of song and story not only in this land of the free, but in countries ruled by kings, emperors, czars and milords. He never was beaten. After battling against the best harness horses, and winning every race he began his phenomenal series of races against Father Time himself. These thrilling exhibitions stir the blood of the most blasé. The old and decrepit forget their infirmities. All are young and every heart beats with hope as this marvelous horse swings into the stretch, a rhythm of motion, and flashes past the stands under the wire in his effort against time and his running paces. There is no greater spectacle. This is the verdict of the hundreds of thousands who have watched Dan Patch. People come hundreds of

For the Wedding SEASON

The thoughtful buyer will find it to his advantage to visit our store and look at the many new and artistic pieces we are showing. We offer only those goods as can be honestly recommended and guaranteed.

The pieces we are showing represent perfection in design, material and workmanship and are often priced lower than inferior articles. All markets are open to the merchant who has the money to pay for the goods. In making our selections we aim to purchase the most desirable pieces for the money invested, endeavoring to avoid duplicates in our stock, that we may indirectly protect the recipient from the annoyance of receiving two pieces exactly alike.

We maintain our standard of excellence throughout our stock and a customer in purchasing a small gift will be confident of obtaining the best value for his money as the person who buys the highest priced article in the store.

Our engraving is as artistic and up-to-date as can be executed. We never allow a piece of ware to leave our store unless properly cleaned, wrapped and tied and stamped with the little red seal, which designates quality.

Hall & Sayles

To Ambitious Young Men and Women

HERE IS A VITAL MESSAGE

You honestly believe that the world needs you—and it does. You think it is hungering and thirsting to make use of your gifts—and it is. But not just the way you have pictured it. The world will use you after its own fashion, and the grooming process will test your courage.

That school that pictures to you ease and pleasure has no interest in your ultimate welfare—it is simply after your money.

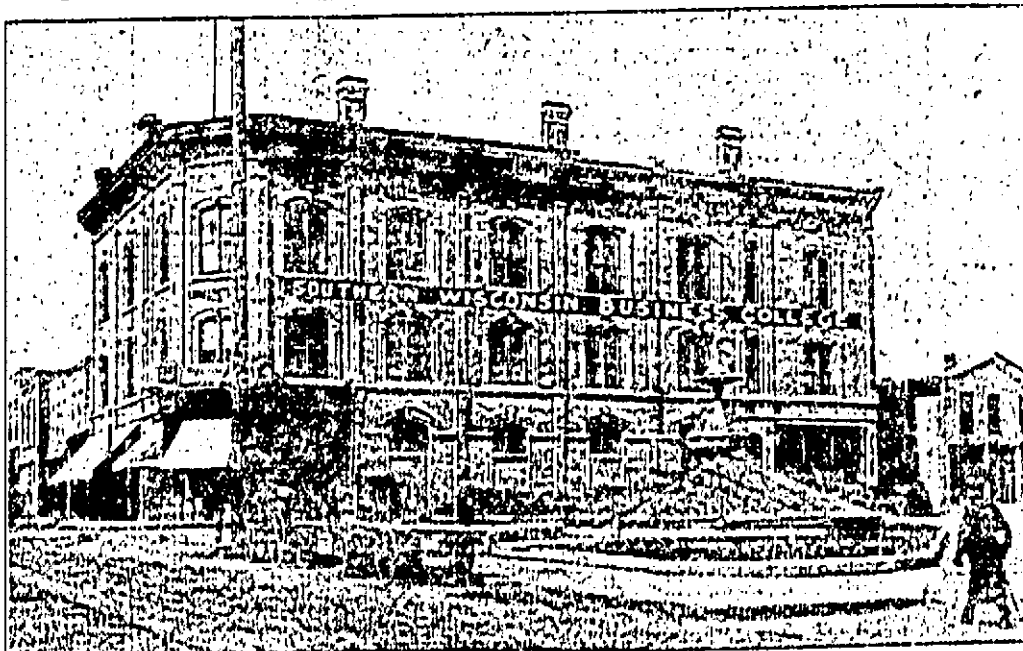

This is a practical age, and you must meet its needs in a practical way. The big business world has a work for you to do, a work for which it will pay you good returns in money, in ambitions realized, in happiness which comes only through congenial occupation.

Position and promotions come through preparation. "Responsibilities gravitate to the people who can shoulder them, and power flows to the person on who knows how." Promotion is the reward for those who have grasped thoroughly the science of their work, its underlying principles, and thus can acquaint themselves well in any sphere of action when opportunity opens the door.

So many Business Colleges tell you that they have BEST building, BEST equipment, BEST location, BEST this and BEST that, but they fail to tell you

What They Do For the Student

Some business schools will enroll any kind of student that comes along if he has the necessary tuition fee. The Southern Wisconsin Business College is not that sort of an institution. The S. W. B. C. has made a reputation of graduating desirable people, and that reputation must be sustained. To do this we must choose our students.

BUT
The S. W. B. C. does want young men and women of good character, strong minds and energetic dispositions. To such young men and women we offer a training that will give them a purpose in life, a training that will always be at their service. A business training is the one thing in business that can be laid down and taken up again when needed. It cannot be mortgaged or stolen or burned. It is an asset that is better than a government bond.

The S. W. B. C. trains young men and women to fill responsible positions, and fill them with credit to the school that graduated them, with honor to themselves and to the satisfaction of their employer.

To do this we must have the right kind of raw material. Students who have gone no farther than the fifth or sixth grade are not made believe that they may become expert stenographers in a few months simply because they happen to have the money. Many students of his class come to us every year and apply for admission but we tell them that if they will spend some months in our English department they will then be fitted to take up a stenographic training successfully. Many think this not necessary, attend a neighboring school, pay in their money and soon find their mistake. The so-called business school has their money and they have disappointment.

HERE'S WHAT THE SOUTHERN WISCONSIN BUSINESS COLLEGE DOES FOR YOU

We give you a thorough, practical training based on many years of actual experience and knowledge. We know what business men require, and we train you to meet those requirements. We give you a thorough; accurate business training in every sense of the word—a training which enables a student to step into a good position at a good salary—not begin and work up:

We know that it is just the additional little margins that win, and we supply you with the additional information to assure the biggest success.

We train you to be a thinker—broad and familiar with business conditions as they exist.

We train you so that your work speaks for itself, which inspires self-confidence.

We train you to know that service is not a matter of time but of intelligence, and the better you stay "on the job" the better the job becomes.

We train you to get down to earth, since that is where people live and work.

We train you to know that the world bestows big prizes, both in money and honors for but two things—intelligence and initiative.

We Prepare For the World's Work

There are about 57 varieties of office help, 56 of which don't help much. The world wants real men and women who can help to improve it. You can't stand still—you've got to prepare for life's work at the proper place in the proper way. Your reward will be in exact ratio to your results, and is therefore necessary that your training be only the BEST. Today is your day—the day in which you play your part. What your part may signify, you may not understand but you are here to play it and NOW is your time. You want to make every day count, and that is what our training will enable you to do.

Opportunities Are Open

I want to reach ambitious young men and women who honestly want to succeed. Our school takes students of this kind and perfects them for positions either as stenographers, bookkeepers, office managers or teachers in a few months. Students complete our courses in the shortest possible time their ability will allow. We do not put you into classes and compel you to wait for or keep up with other students. Then when you are finished

We Place You in a Good Position or Refund You Your Tuition

There's nothing that stands between you and success except the START and the sooner you make the start the sooner you step into a position of prominence and profit. Write me today. Tell me your plans. I will be glad to place the facts clearly before you, which will show and PROVE how THIS college can help you attain the greatest possible success in your life's work. ADDRESS ME PERSONALLY.

W. W. DALE, President, - - - Janesville, Wis.

We have an interesting booklet, "A Short Cut to Success." Write for it. It is free.

When a school asks you to sign a contract or scholarship of any kind it is a mark of inferiority. The Best Business Schools do not resort to such practices.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

On Friday, August 27, at the Myers theatre, will be seen "Lo," a musical comedy under the auspices of the Elks, produced by the Harry Askin Co., and which is establishing a distinctly new era in musical plays.

With its book and lyrics by O. Henry and Franklin P. Adams, two literatures who stand highest in their respective fields today, made by A. Baldwin Stone, and rehearsed under the management of Harry Askin, the man who handled the productions of the Askin-Singer Co., "The Time, the Place and the Girl," "The Girl Question," etc., on tour, and made them establish new records in receipts; for smartness and delightful entertainment, "Lo" has a plot and originality of development which no other musical comedy of the past decade has possessed.

her of the cast, has a role somewhat similar to that of "Happy" Johnny Hicks, a part he has played for the past two years in "The Time, the Place and the Girl," but his speech, while stumpy and idiomatic, has that distinction and atmosphere of class about them which make O. Henry's writings so valuable. The plot of "Lo" concerns largely the attempt of a beautiful cosmopolitan countess to start a revolution in South America. Mr. Young has been in former years an assistant revolutionary leader and he has had all the wants of South American revolutions. Here is part of his reply to her invitation:

"Spoken of them revolutions, say I got near enough one to say 'Hello to it once! I was running a hotel on Fourth avenue—one of those places with stupid awnings such as the mayor of Waukegan or the governor of Missouri might stop at. We made a plug for the Cuban and South American trade. We invested ten thousand dollars in electric lights, cayenne pepper and garlic, and we had a cock fight in the basement every Sunday. Well, one day a little foreign person named General Taxelbo registered the color of viol kid with mahogany whiskers and a line of talk that sounded like the last words of a bicyclo pump."

SERUM PREVENTS HOG CHOLERA

Tests Made of Dr. Dorset's Serum on Thirty-Five Porks.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 21.—After a 30-day test, conducted under the most rigid supervision of the United States government and the Kansas City Stock Yards Company, the unquestioned efficacy of the serum discovered by Dr. M. Dorset, a government specialist, for the prevention of hog cholera, has been demonstrated.

Of a poison squad of 36 hogs, the 13 which were not immunized at the beginning of the test are dead, and 22 which were treated are perfectly healthy in an isolated pen at the stock yards.

The 22 were subjected to every conceivable form of exposure to cholera and the 13 which succumbed to the disease died in the pens with the 22 at various times during the progress of the tests.

WANT TROPHIES FROM TEDDY.

Roosevelt Unable to Grant "Nervy" Requests from His Friends.

Nairobi, British East Africa, Aug. 21.—Theodore Roosevelt has received many letters from the United States containing all kinds of requests with which it is impossible for him to comply, and which, it is equally impossible for him even to answer.

The petitions are of every conceivable nature, including requests for live animals for zoological gardens; for skins of dead animals; for large snakes; for birds' eggs; for teeth and claws of lions, and tigers although there are no tigers in Africa; requests for plants; for picture postcards which are naturally not to be found in the African wilderness, and for all kinds of other objects including even pickled meat and dried meat of game.

Mob Lynchs Georgia Negro.

Fitzgerald, Ga., Aug. 21.—Henry Taylor, a negro ex-convict, charged with assaulting Mrs. Josh Vicker Tuesday and then murdering her and her infant, was taken from the sheriff of Wilcox county between Lamplun and McIntee, and lynched.

CHICAGO CAR MEN MAY STRIKE.

Mahon Arrives in City to Take Up Union Fight.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—A street car strike menaces Chicago again, and the police are making ready for trouble. The North and West side conductors and motormen at a meeting of the union overwhelmingly voted to reject the new wage scale offered by the Chicago Railways Company and to-day Acting-Chief Schnettler gave orders from his home cancelling all furloughs of policemen and asking that efforts be made to reach all members of the department who are now on their vacations, with the hope of getting them back to duty before any possible trouble.

W. D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees, arrived in Chicago today to take up the fight for the men.

DECORATES GRAVE OF HIS LEG.

Civil War Hero Visits Resting Place of Lost Limb.

Lenox, Mass., Aug. 21.—In pursuance of a custom that has come to be almost a solemn rite, Maj. George Tate, U. S. A., retired, has left here to make his annual visit to the grave of his left leg, which, shot off in action, is buried at Gettysburg on the battlefield.

Maj. Tate, who is now an internal revenue officer attached to the New York district, served through the war with signal honor and distinction until his leg was shot off at Gettysburg. When told that he must lose the member, after the battle, he made arrangements to have it buried on the battlefield. A stone, subsequently erected, now marks the grave of the gallant major's leg.

Since then not a year has passed but that Maj. Tate, no matter how pressing his duties, has gone to Gettysburg to lay a red rose on the grave of his lost member.

MURDER IN POLICE STATION.

Man Kills Common Law Wife in Office of Chief.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 21.—George Marlon, aged 52 years, of Atlanta, Ga., shot and instantly killed his common law wife in the office of the chief of police in this city last night. Marlon and the deceased, who was formerly Frances Lee of Zion City, Ill., had, it is alleged, been living together as husband and wife for seven years.

The woman ran away taking her child with her. Marlon traced her to this city, and through the chief of police he arranged to meet his wife at police headquarters. When Chief Long stopped from the office, thinking he was accomplishing a kind act by bringing man and wife together, Marlon asked his wife if she would return to Atlanta with him. She refused, whereupon he pulled a revolver and shot her dead.

MEXICO FACES GRAVE TROUBLE.

Troops Watch Reyes and His Friends Cannot Buy Weapons.

Monterrey, Mex., Aug. 21.—Not a weapon of any kind could be bought here today. Half of the men of the town are carrying concealed weapons. Judges of clandestine weapons, who recognize Gen. Reyes as chief, are preparing a demonstration at Alameda. Trouble is feared.

Mexico City, Aug. 21.—Bernardo Reyes, governor of the state of Nuevo Leon, and opposition candidate for the vice-presidency of the republic, is surrounded by a detachment of government troops in the mountains near Galeana, Nuevo Leon. No overt act has yet been committed and it is reported that Senor Reyes is merely being held under surveillance by the federal authorities.

Daughter's Murder Hastens Death.

Sault Haven, Mich., Aug. 21.—John Morgan, father of Mrs. Hildana Clemenson, who was murdered in Chicago three months ago, died at his home here. Grief over the tragedy which caused his daughter's death is given as the cause of his sudden death. The woman's husband, Dr. Clemenson, is in jail in Chicago.

Report from Santiago Says Many Were Killed in Crash.

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 21.—A terrible disaster occurred when two trains came into collision 30 miles north of Santiago.

Many persons were killed or injured. Both trains were completely destroyed. The monetary loss will reach $150,000.

Curtis Makes Trial Flight.

Rhineus, Aug. 21.—Aeroplane—flying in straight lines, making wide turns or wheeling abruptly, travelling slow and fast and low and high, was the striking spectacle offered 15,000 persons on the field of Jethony. Two slight accidents occurred. Glenn H. Curtis, the only American who is to compete in the races, was given an ovation after a successful practice flight of seven minutes.

Oil Magnate Dies on Train.

New York, Aug. 21.—Frank Hurstow, a director of the Standard Oil Company and multi-millionaire, died suddenly in a berth aboard a New York Central train, near Utica, N. Y., while returning to his home in East Orange, N. J., from an outing at the Thousand Islands. Death was attributed to a valvular disease of the heart. Mrs. Hurstow was with her husband.

PRESIDENT TO CROSS LINE

WILL BE FIRST PRESIDENT TO VISIT A FOREIGN COUNTRY.

MAY WITNESS BULL FIGHT

Mexicans Plan Big Arena Events for October 16 When Chief Magistrates of the Two Nations Meet at Juarez.

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 21.—When President Taft crosses the border line into Mexico October 16, he will be the first president, while acting as chief executive, to step foot on the soil of a foreign nation. By law Vice-President Sherman will be chief magistrate of the United States as long as Mr. Taft is in Mexico, which will be only a few hours at the most.

Senor Don Francisco Leon de la Barra, Mexican ambassador, presented the invitation of President Diaz for President Taft to visit Ciudad Juarez, across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex., which will be visited by the Mexican executive before Mr. Taft enters the neighboring country. They will be guarded by Mexican troops at Juarez and American soldiers will be on duty in El Paso. Other details have not been settled.

Juarez will invite both Taft and Diaz to witness a bull fight in which the country's most famous toreros will participate. The city has voted $20,000 to pay for the entertainment of the distinguished visitors.

Central America Discovered.

Incidentally the ambassador briefy discussed with the American chief magistrate the situation in Central America, where it is reported that there is considerable unrest over the report that the United States and Mexico, acting in common, may exert a still stronger influence for the settlement of the constantly arising difficulties among the little republics by amicable means and thus put an end to frequent wars and revolutions.

The ambassador declared that the conclusion of his interview that there was little of political significance in his visit. Later, however, he sent a series of long cablegrams in cipher to the City of Mexico.

President Taft is looking forward with keen delight to his meeting with President Diaz. He expressed last winter a desire for a personal interview with the man who for so long has been at the head of affairs in the southern republic, and the meeting was arranged for on the occasion of the president's trip through the south.

Conference with Wickersham.

President Taft and Attorney General Wickersham this afternoon began the serious consideration of the outline of proposed changes in the interstate commerce and anti-trust laws, which Mr. Wickersham has been considering and which he will lay before a commission of government officials, selected by Mr. Taft, in New York city next week.

Attorney General Wickersham also took up the matter of the reorganization of the department of justice of the bureau of corporations in the department of commerce and labor, and of the interstate commerce commission, looking to effective co-operation of these agencies in order to secure a more rapid and certain enforcement of the laws affecting interstate railroads and industrial combinations.

The president and the attorney general went over the matters under discussion only in a broad, general way, for the details of the changes remain to be worked out.

CLEANING AND REPAIRING

TIME UNTIL END OF THE CONTEST GROWING SHORT

But Two Weeks Now Remain—Now Time To Act—

Remind That Friend Of The Promised Subscription—Today Is The Day.

AVOID DELAY.
In order to assure prompt and satisfactory delivery of the Gazette we suggest that the contestants in securing new subscribers be sure to get the street and number if in the city, and the town and number of rural free delivery if country subscribers.

At the days go by the interest in this great contest increases, the prizes grow more tempting and, Sept. 1st now draws nearer. Just two more weeks to get the remainder of the non-subscribers to take the best paper published in Janesville.

A 12 months' trial subscription will convince the most skeptical that the Gazette is not only "first in news," but "first in everything." The battle of voters goes on merrily and each day finds candidates changing places. All are now alive to the issue and those who fail to take advantage of this offer at once will be numbered among the winners Sept. 1st.

Something to Think About.
There is probably not a girl in the Gazette's voting contest that cannot go out and pick up in one or two days ten new yearly subscriptions to the Gazette. Every last one of them has a number of friends whom she can influence in her behalf, and do it easily. It requires only a little energy upon a girl's part to do this work. And think what this means to the girl who goes out and does this little piece of work. To get ten new subscribers to the Gazette for one year will put her far ahead of any other girl now in the contest.

Ten new subscribers to the Gazette by carrier will give a girl 250,000 votes. Five new yearly subscriptions will give her 125,000. What smart girl cannot pick up ten new subscribers to the Gazette in two days? There's an easy job. It means but little work.

Ten new subscribers by mail or carrier outside of the city will give 140,000 votes. What smart country girl cannot pick up ten new subscribers to the Gazette in two days? There's an easy job. It means but little work.

"Think about this thing, candidates. Get your energy in motion and get one of the handsome prizes. Your friends will admire you for your energy, they will be proud of you for what you do whether you win or not. But if you work, you'll win.

All good things come to the girl who rightly wins and works.

The Gazette's handsome prizes will go to the girls who work—and that's where they ought to go.

If you wish one of these fine prizes prove it, and prove your worth by getting busy. We all like to help those girls who try to help themselves.

Future Orders.
Don't give up getting a party as a subscriber simply because he is already taking some other paper for which he has paid in advance. Take his subscription to The Gazette to begin at the expiration of the other paper, and when that time arrives, he will begin to receive The Gazette.

Open Evenings.
For the benefit of those who cannot call during business hours, this office and contest department will be open every evening.

ENTERTAINED CLASS AT PLEASANT PARTY

Mrs. O. S. Shepard Hostess to Young Ladies of Her Sunday School Class Thursday Evening.
(Special to the Gazette.)
Evening, Aug. 20—Mrs. O. S. Shepard entertained the young ladies of her Sunday school class in a very pleasant manner at her home last evening. After a delicious six o'clock dinner had been served a delightful evening was spent with music, choruses and recitals. Chorus readings by Miss May Holmes and piano solos by the Misses Genevieve Day and Lou Howard were much enjoyed by the guests.

GUIDE BOARDS WILL BE PLACED SHORTLY

Before November First Each Town in State Must Have Them in Place.
The time is getting short now when every town must have a sign board, designating the distance to the nearest town and the number of miles therefrom. Chapter 495 of the laws of 1929, which the town boards must do in the matter and the time limit when they are to be erected, and while it may, in some sense be termed an automobile law, it is, nevertheless, a good one.

The law in part says: "The town board of each town in the state of Wisconsin shall cause to be erected and to be kept in good repair suitable and appropriate guide boards along all main traveled public highways within their respective towns. The expense of the erection and keeping in repair of all such guide boards shall be paid out of the treasury of each town. Such guide boards to be erected between the first day of May and the first day of November."

"Such guide boards shall be securely attached at the upper end of a post set in the ground, and shall when firmly set, project seven feet and six inches above the ground.

The boards shall be painted upon such guide boards in plain black Roman letters not less than two and one-half inches high, the names of the adjoining or important towns, villages or cities to and through which said public highway leads, the distance in miles of such town, village or city from such guide post, and any indication of direction which will be helpful to the traveler.

ANTHRAX AFFECTED UNIVERSITY HERDS

Three Head of Valuable Cattle Affected—Dr. Clark Has Called Many Veterinarians to Investigate Disease.
Anthrax has entered the pedigree herd of cows supported by the college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin. Four animals considered among the most valuable of the thirty that compose the herd, have already died and the remainder are in quarantine. University circles are in a high state of excitement following this discovery. Much time, money and labor has been spent to make this an ideal herd and the most perfect sanitary surroundings were given the animals who were watched as carefully as little children. Each animal was valued at about $500.

The source of the disease which is generally introduced from South America is shrouded in mystery and every attempt will be made to find its origin.

State Veterinarian Clark and Dr. W. A. Wolcott have been called in and the services of Dr. J. M. Babcock, the eminent chemist connected with the university, and Dr. A. F. Alexander, an instructor in veterinary science, have also been drafted upon.

Members of the faculty who have been supplied from the university herd as well as other select customers are almost forced to go with milk as the dealers who supply the city have scarcely enough for their old trade.

TOBACCO CROP IS GROWING NICELY

Rains Appear to Have Relieved the Idea That This Year's Outlook is Gloomy.
Despite the statements by many of the buyers that the tobacco crop in Rock county is very poor this year, advisers from all parts of the country are to the contrary. Some growers even assert that the crop will be as good as the one of 1926 which was a bumper year. The Edgerton Reporter makes the following comment on the crop:

"We can think of no crop growing from the soil that has greater recuperative qualities than tobacco. It can stand longer droughts and greater frosts than any other crop produced on the farm and will make good at the harvest time. One reason for this is that it is a quick growing crop. Under ideal conditions sixty days from the time of transplanting will produce tobacco fit for the sheds, and in ordinarily favorable seasons seventy-five days sees the making of the crop. These facts are recalled now that the present crop is making such a phenomenal recovery from a long season of drought. The warm days following the breaking of the drought, and warm nights as well, have made the medium and late set fields fairly jump. By actual measurements taken by growers, it has been found that the leaves have been taking on a growth of one and a half inches every twenty-four hours of late. It needs scarcely more than fifteen days of such growing weather to be the making of tobacco to be almost beyond help. If we must have a drought, by all means let it come in July and not in August when the maturing leaf might be pinched. This season has demonstrated that a good tobacco crop can be made in the month of August even if the crop had not made much progress in July.

"Along about this time in the season when handsome fields of tobacco are going into the sheds, the buying fever every year gets beyond control and a panic in the growing districts is likely to occur. We are not surprised, therefore, to learn that the rush is again on in the Vernon county section, but how large a force will be drawn into the contest remains yet to be seen. It is useless to comment on the situation which a sober second thought will condemn as unbusinesslike.

MAY ORGANIZE THE SONS OF VETERANS

Plan to Establish Camp in This City Met with Much Favor at 13th Wisconsin Reunion.
At the annual reunion of the Thirtieth Wisconsin Infantry which was held in this city on Wednesday last, there was considerable discussion of a project to organize a Camp of the Sons of Veterans in Janesville. It was prompted by Harry M. Platner of Gockford, who has been instrumental in starting several branches of this order in Illinois, and the plan met with much favor. All male descendants of soldiers, sailors, or marines who served in the Union army or navy during the Civil war are eligible to membership and without doubt a strong camp could be formed in this city.

MRS. A. P. BURNHAM IS TO ENTERTAIN

For the Four September Brides at 5:30 o'clock Tea and Bridge Party on Monday.
The Misses Grace Valentine, Elizabeth McKay, Agnes Shumway, and Mabel Greenman will be guests of honor at a tea to be given by Mrs. Arthur P. Burnham at her home, 415 St. Lawrence avenue, at half-past five o'clock Monday afternoon. The evening will be devoted to bridge whist.

Ante's Ears.

Strange as it may seem, each ant has at least six ears. Aside from this multiplicity of ears, they are located in just about the queerest place imaginable—on the legs. So sensitive are their feet that they will detect the impact of a small birdshot dropped on a table from a height of about six inches and about 14 feet distant from an artificial nest placed at the other end of the table.—St. Nicholas.

The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR M'GUTHCHEON

Copyright, 1904, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

A TOAST TO THE PAST.

THE middle of June found the Deppingsham leaving London once more, but this time not on a voyage into the mysterious south seas. They no longer were interested in the island of Japan, except as a reminiscence, nor were they concerned in the vagaries of Taswell Skaggs' will.

The estate was settled—closed! Two months have passed since the Deppingshams departed from Japan, for good and all. Many events have come to pass since that memorable day, not the least of which was the exchanging of $500,000, less attorneys' and executors' fees, Lady Deppingsham and Robert Browne divided that amount of money and passed into legal history as the "late claimants to the estate of Taswell Skaggs."

It was Sir John Brodney's enterprise. He saw the way out of the difficulty, and he acted as pathfinder to the other and less perceiving counselors, all of whom had looked forward to an endless controversy.

The business of the Japan company and all that it entailed was transferred by agreement to a syndicate. Never before was there such a stupendous deal in futures.

The grandchildren of the testators were ready to accept the best settlement that could be obtained. There was a rather forlorn hope to begin with. When it was proposed that Agnes Deppingsham and Robert Browne should accept $250,000 apiece in lieu of all claims, moral or legal, against the estate, they leaped at the chance.

They had seen but little of each other since landing in England, except as they were thrown together at the conferences. Lady Agnes went for every diversion imaginable. For a wonder, she dragged Deppingsham with her on all occasions. It was a most unexpected transformation. Their friends were puzzled. The rumor went about town that she was in love with her husband.

As for Bobby Browne, he was devoted himself to Drusilla. They sailed for New York within three days after the settlement was effected, ignoring the enticements of a London season. The Brownes were rich. He could now become a fashionable specialist. They were worth nearly a million and a quarter in American dollars. They now had nothing in common with Taswell Skaggs. Skaggs is not a pretty name.

Mr. Britt afterward spent three weeks of incessant travel on the continent and an additional seven days at sea. In Baden-Baden he happened upon Lord and Lady Deppingsham. It will be recalled that in Japan they had always professed an unshaky aversion for Mr. Britt. Is it cause for wonder, then, that they declined his invitation to dine in Baden-Baden? He even proposed to invite their entire party, which included a few dukes and duchesses who were leisurely on their way to attend the long talk of nuptials in Thorberg at the end of June.

In Vienna the Deppingshams were joined by the Duchess of N., the Marchioness of H., and other fashionable. In a week all of them would be in the castle at Thorberg for the ceremony that now occupied the attention of social and royal Europe.

"And to think," said the duchess, "she might have died happily on that miserable island. I am sure we did all we could to bring it about by staining away from the place with the plague."

ALL OUT OF SORTS.

Has Any Janesville Person Never Felt That Way?

Feel all out of sorts? Tired, Blue, Irritable, Nervous? Back feel lame and achy? That's the story of sick kidneys—bad blood circulating about; Uric acid poisoning the body. Just one way to feel right again, Cure the sluggish kidneys; Do it with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have cured many Janesville people.

Here's one case. C. F. Luster, 1017 Wheeler St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I was in poor health for several months. My whole system seemed to be filled with uric acid. I ached all over and felt miserable. I had but little strength or energy and my kidneys did not act normally. I decided to try a tonic for my kidneys and having often heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box from the People's Drug Co. I felt better in a short time after beginning their use and from my experience have no hesitation in saying that I believe Doan's Kidney Pills are an excellent kidney remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

"Yes, Solim," said the tall man in dinner, "he's a sort of old dog Tray, ever faithful, but not the right kind. You don't happen to know anything of old dog Tray, do you? No? I thought not. Nor you, Neenah? Well, he was!"

"Was he the one who was poisoned at the chateau, excellency?" asked Neenah timidly.

"No, my dear," he replied soberly. "If I remember my history, he died in the seventeenth century or thereabouts. It's really of no consequence, however. Any good, faithful dog will serve my purpose. What I want to impress upon you is this—it is most difficult for a faithful old dog to survive a change of masters. It isn't human nature or dog nature, either. I'm glad that you are convinced, Neenah. But please don't tell Sahib Bowles that he is a dog."

"Oh, no, excellency!" she cried earnestly.

"She is very close mouthed, Sahib," added Solim, with conviction.

"We'll leave Japan to take care of itself."

He lighted a fresh cigarette, tenderly fingering it before applying the match.

"I'll smoke one of hers tonight, Solim. Soli I keep them apart from the others in this little gold case. I smoke them only when I am thinking. Now, run in. I want to be alone."

They left him, and he threw himself upon the green sod, his back to a tree, his face toward the distant chateau. Hours afterward the faithful Solim came out to tell him that it was bedtime. He found his master still sitting there, looking across the moonlight flat in the direction of a place in the hills where once he had dwelt in marble halls.

"Solim," he said, arising and laying his hand upon his servant's shoulder, his voice unsteady with fluidity, "I have decided, after all, to go to Paris. We will live there, Solim. Do you understand?" with strange fierceness, a great exclamation mastering him. "We are to live in Paris!"

To himself all that night he was saying: "I must see her again! I shall see her!"

A thousand times he had read and reread the letter that Lady Deppingsham had written to him just before the ceremony in the cathedral at Thorberg. He knew every word that it contained. He could read it in the dark. She had said that Geneva was going into a hell that no hereafter could surpass in horror! And that was ages ago, it seemed to him. Geneva had been a wife for nearly three months—the wife of a man who loathed her. She was calling in her heart for him to come to her. She was suffering in that unspeakable hell. All this he had come to feel and shudder over in his unspeakable loneliness.

He would go to her. There could be no wrong in loving her, in being near her, in standing by her in those hours of desperation.

A copy of a London newspaper stuffed away in the recesses of his trunk, dated June 23, had come to him by post. It contained the telegraphic details of the brilliant wedding in Thorberg. Every royal family in Europe was represented. The list of no-bles names seemed endless to him, the boy of the world's aristocracy. How he hated them!

The next morning Solim aroused him from his fitful sleep, bringing the news that a strange vessel had arrived off Ararat. Chase rushed out upon his veranda, overlooking the little harbor. A long, white, graceful craft was lying in the harbor. He stared long and intently at the trim craft.

"Can I be dreaming?" he muttered, passing his hand over his eyes. "Don't lie to me, Solim! Is it really there?" Then he uttered a loud cry of joy and started off down the slope with the speed of a race horse, shouting in the frenzy of an uncontrollable glow.

It was the Marquis of B's white and blue yacht.

Three weeks later Hollingsworth Chase stepped from the deck of the yacht to the pier in Marseilles. The next day he was in Paris, attended by the bewildered and almost useless Solim. An old and valued friend, a companion of the wartime days, met him at the Gare de Lyon in response to a telegram.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

THE TITLE CLEAR.

TWO men and a woman stood in the evening glow looking out over the tranquil sea that crept up and licked the foot of the cliff. It was September. Five months had passed since the King's Own steamed away from the harbor of Ararat. The new dispensation was in full effect. During the long, sickening weeks that preceded the coming of the syndicate Hollingsworth Chase toiled faithfully, resolutely, for the restoration of order and system among the demoralized people of Japan.

With the transfer of the company's business his work was finished. Two young men from Sir John's were now settled in Ararat as legal advisors to the islanders, Chase having declined to serve longer in that capacity.

He was now waiting for the steamer which was to take him to Cape Town on his way to England—and home.

The chateau was closed and in the hands of a small army of caretakers. The three widows of Jacob von Hiltz were now married to separate and distinct husbands, all of whom retained their places as heads of departments at the chateau, proving that courtship had not been confined to the white people during the closing days of the siege.

The head of the bank was Oscar Arnheim, Mr. Bowles having been deposed because his methods were even more obsolete than his coat of armor.

Solim disposed of his lawful interest in the corporation to Ben Ali, the new end, and was waiting to accompany his master to America. It may be well to add that the deal did not include the transfer of Neenah. She was not for sale, said Solim to Ben Ali.

It was of Mr. Bowles that the three persons were talking as they stood in the evening glow.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 21.—Two IPS stare John Roberts in the face as he passes his cell charged with counterfeiting $1,000,000 in Mexican pesos.

If he had not been shipped with a station agent of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, he probably would not have been so easily caught.

If his brother had not tried to "double cross" him the plot would not have been discovered, he believes. John Roberts, confessedly chief maker of the spurious notes, was readily located near Simpsonville, because the station agent, approached by Deputy United States Marshal Haydes, remembered that a "fat guy" in alkating from a train with a brass-bound trunk, some days before, had called him "old sport."

The tracery ascribed to John Roberts to his brother, Marion, who, he says, stole some of the Mexican notes from the trunk and used them to make the proposition to J. M. Fetter & Company, Louisville brokers, which led to Marion's entrapping and capture.

John Roberts, who with his brother is in jail under a $15,000 federal bond, declared that when he had made his "million" he had considered it enough for any man and had, one dark night, sunk the plates from which the notes were struck in the Ohio river.

The final touch in the carnival of fraud came when a dispatch from New York announced that the alleged headquarters of "the gang" in Wall street was occupied by firms of unquestioned repute who had never before heard of the Robertses.

John Roberts examined Mexican money carefully when he was employed as an engineer on a Mexican railway, and for the last five years in New York had been experimenting in the making of pesos until his work became almost perfect.

DEATH CLAIMS SOCIETY HEROINE

Philadelphia Belle Drowns in Vain Attempt to Save Lawyer.

Wildwood, N. J., Aug. 21.—In a desperate but futile effort to save the life of W. Brooke Lewis, a well-known Philadelphia lawyer, with whom she was swimming in the surf at Wildwood Crest, Miss Virginia Paul, one of the leaders in the younger set of Philadelphia society, was also drowned.

Miss Paul was a stepdaughter of Clarence Jodries, a Pennsylvania railroad official, and resided at Swarthmore, Pa. She was about 21 years old. She and Mr. Lewis were guests at the cottage of Morton Z. Paul, at Wildwood Crest. Neither body has been recovered.

File Stipulation Terms.

New York, Aug. 21.—By stipulation between United States District Attorney Wiso and counsel for the American Sugar Refining Company, filed in the United States circuit court here, the date for submission of final findings of the corporation and its officials to the federal judgments against them was advanced to August 27. Gustav E. Klassel and Thomas B. Harned, co-defendants with the company and its officials, were not included in the terms of the stipulation.

Are You Extravagant?

It has often been charged that extravagance is the besetting sin of the American people.

Too many possessions are discarded before they have outlived their usefulness, and no attempt is ever made to secure a portion of their real value.

Why consign your cast-away articles to the junk pile? There is nothing in this world absolutely without some value. You may not think so, but it is a fact.

For every article for which you have no further use there is some person perhaps of lesser means, who would gladly take it off your hands, even if at a low price.

Something is better than nothing, isn't it? Or better still, there is something lacking around the house which we would like to have but cannot afford. Couldn't we make a trade of our cast-off possessions?

Perhaps a little "to boot" will do the trick—try a little ad in the "For Sale" or "Exchange" columns of the Gazette. The experiment will cost only a few cents, and the result will surprise you.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

EVERYTHING that goes wrong in a household need not necessarily be some one's "fault."

Mother's sometimes have a way of thinking that any child in the domestic machinery must be blamed on some one and children very naturally resent blame of things that are at worst only accidents, and seek to lay it on some one else.

"It isn't my fault the toast is burned," says Ruth. "It's John's, because he left the outside door open and I had to go shut it."

"My fault," says John indignantly. "Quess not. I left that door open because I didn't have my hands to shut it with. It's Bob's fault, because he made me take all the bundles."

"Aren't you the limit?" says Bob. "What did I give you those bundles for? You know. If I hadn't given them to you and let out after that dog he'd have killed our cat."

Accidents and inconveniences and discomforts are often no one's "fault," at all, but simply the result of a combination of circumstances. If every one in a family would realize this and not seek to continually be blaming some one, the domestic atmosphere might frequently be clearer.

No, next time you start to say, "It's some one's fault," why not just try not thinking it for a change?

"I hope Mrs. Martin will go," said the lady who is always thinking of her.

There was a sudden atmosphere of constraint, Miss Martin is forty-five and unmarried.

"Oh, I meant Miss Martin, of course. How stupid of me. I am always doing things like that. Please excuse me," said the breakfast contritely doing the worst thing she could have done.

The atmosphere of constraint was thickening but Miss Martin's cherry voice cut in like a knife and dispelled it as sun on an August fog.

"Oh, don't mind that," she responded cheerfully. "I wish you could say it. No one wishes it more than I. Yes, of course I'll go."

Why can't all unmarried women be like that?

Probably 500 out of every 1,000 grown-up people own watches.

And yet when you ask the time probably one out of a thousand says promptly, "My watch is exactly right. It's—"

If you notice carefully you will very likely find that one to be a person who has gotten somewhere in life or is on his way thither.

Now, isn't it possible that accuracy in things like that may be one of the qualities that has helped build his success and also one that might help build yours?

Forty Years Ago

Janesville Daily Gazette, August 21, 1869.—Accident.—While at work with a circular saw this morning, in the shop of Harvey, Anderson & Co., Joseph Scott had his left hand badly lacerated. His thumb and second finger were injured the worst, but it is hoped amputation may not be necessary.

Drenching Rain.—This section of the country was visited yesterday afternoon and evening by a drenching rain, which continued at intervals up to this morning. It came at an inopportune time for the farmers as much of their grain is still unthreshed.

Manufacture of Gas Machines.—There has been organized in this city under the general law a company for the manufacture of portable gas machines, with a capital of $100,000. Sixty thousand dollars of the stock was taken in Janesville and $40,000 in Boston. The officers elected at the first meeting of the stockholders are for president, S. J. Goodman, of Belmont; vice president, H. J. Goodman, of Belmont; secretary, H. J. Goodman, of Belmont; treasurer, H. J. Goodman, of Belmont; and for directors, S. J. Goodman, of Belmont; H. J. Goodman, of Belmont; and H. J. Goodman, of Belmont.

A New Democratic Paper.—The first number of the Janesville "Times," a new Democratic paper printed in this city, made its appearance this morning. It is printed by Messrs. Woodard & St. John, well edited by A. O. Wilson, Esq., and looks as if it will grow and flourish. It promises to be "democratic straight," and to secure the patronage of its political friends in Rock county. We cordially welcome it into the field of respectable journalism, and wish it abundant success in everything except its politics.

IN THE CHURCHES

St. Mary's Roman Catholic church.—First mass, 8 a. m.; second mass, 10 a. m.; vespers and benediction, 7:30 p. m. Rev. Wm. A. Goebel, pastor.

St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church.—Corner of Cherry and Holmes street. Dean E. E. Kelly, pastor; Rev. James J. McGinley, assistant pastor. Residence at 315 Cherry street. First mass, 7 a. m.; second mass, 9 a. m.; third mass, 10:30 a. m.; vespers and benediction, 7:30 p. m.

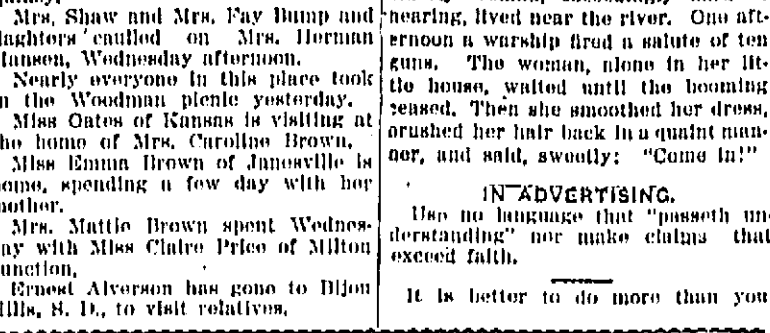

St. Peter's English Ev. Lutheran church.—Corner South Jackson and Center streets. W. P. Christy, pastor, 1315 Pleasant street. No preaching services tomorrow; Sunday school at 12 m. Luther League at 7:45 Tuesday evening.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.—Services are held in Phoenix block, West Milwaukee street, Sunday morning at 10:30 and Wednesday evening at 7:30. The subject of the lesson sermon Sunday morning will be "Mind." The Sunday school meets at 12 o'clock. Reading room open daily, except Sunday, from 2 to 5 p. m.

Thought Some One Had Knocked.—A story of extraordinary deafness was unfolded at a recent meeting of a medical society in Philadelphia. An elderly woman, exceedingly hard of hearing, lived near the river. One afternoon a warship fired a salute of ten guns. The woman, alone in her little house, waited until the booming ceased. Then she smoothed her dress, brushed her hair back in a quaint manner, and said, sweetly: "Come in!"

promise than to promise more than you can do in your advertising.

It is not wisdom even to tell the whole truth in an ad if the reader cannot believe it.

The purchase of advertising incurs less speculative risk than any other industrial investment, where the same cure is exercised in the deal.

True economy in advertising often means what apparently seems a lavish waste of money. No great advertising success was ever achieved without a liberal understanding of the value of the ad at the right time and in the right place.

Emphasize only the things that are really important. Too much detail spoils the advertisement.

A one-time insertion of an ad "to see how it will go" is like dropping a coin in a slot machine—the percentage is against you.

Provisional Arrangement.—"Do man who speaks nothing but do simple truth," said Uncle Eben, "will find so much to do in the way of investigation 'n' meditation that he ain't got time to have much time for talkin'."

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently aches which a strong woman would give way under. The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles.

Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge and in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing efficacy.

The most perfect remedy ever devised for weak and delicate women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG. SICK WOMEN WELL.

The many and varied symptoms of women's peculiar ailments are fully set forth in Plain English in the People's Medical Adviser (1008 pages), a newly revised and up-to-date Edition of which, cloth-bound, will be mailed free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Address as above.

grow higher and wider every year.

Wet leaves and branches touching bare wires cause noise and crosses and other telephone troubles. The remedy is to enclose wires in lead-covered cables. That is expensive, but in the end it pays. The Rock County Telephone Company is putting in place eight new cables this summer, enclosing hundreds of its wires, at an expense of several thousand dollars.

That means GOOD SERVICE, regardless of wind or rain or storms.

Our telephones can be had at $1 per month.
